

Our Form 6 student Chui Man-Ho has won the 'Best Devotion to School' Award in the 38th 'Student of the Year' organized by the South China Morning Post and sponsored by the Hong Kong Jockey Club. With the support of the Education Bureau, the award is one of the best ways to acknowledge the achievement of outstanding TYTcians.

The 'Student of the Year' has long been hailed as Hong Kong's most prestigious secondary school event, of which the prime objective is to shine a spotlight on the talents and achievements of secondary school students in Hong Kong. The 'Best Devotion to School' goes to students who not only excel on a personal level, but whose involvement in and contribution to school activities have also helped others reach new heights.

Chiu Man-ho has been awarded a Plaque, a certificate and a scholarship of HK$5,000, along with four other finalists in Hong Kong. His service to TYT has been strongly appreciated by our staff. He has gained deep respect from TYTcians as he has shown a high degree of diligence, commitment and dedication in his endeavours.

Student of the Year Best Devotion to School

The Student of the Year – Best Devotion to School prize is intended for students from Form 4-6 (Year 10-13) whose service to their school has inspired appreciation and respect from their teachers and fellow students. Winners are expected to show a high degree of commitment, dedication and diligence. They should also be responsible leaders, adept at working in teams, and serve as good representatives of their school in external activities.

A scholarship of HK$5,000, an Award Plaque and a Certificate will be presented to the five winners.

STUDENT OF THE YEAR
2018/19

The Finalists

Justin Chiu Man-ho 趙文浩
Po Leung Kuk Tang Yuk Tien College / Form 6

Justin Chiu Man-ho has been part of his school's student union since Form 4 and is responsible for organising numerous activities including the school's signature Charity Carnival. However, perhaps his most notable contribution was producing a rap video which became an unexpected hit on the internet. This creative approach to promoting the school was widely shared by current students and alumni alike, with the video already attracting more than three million views. After studying at university, Chui hopes to pursue a career in the media industry.

Student of the Year – Best Devotion to School

From Left: Siu Chak-hang, St. Joseph's College; Liam Fung, Chinese International School; Chiu Man-ho, PLK Tang Yuk Tien college; Kwok Hiu-ming, Hong Kong Red Cross Princess Alexandra School; Cheung Lap-hang, PAOC Ka Chi Secondary School; Katherine Lai Man-wai, St. Stephen's College; Chong Tsz-san, King Ling College; Victoria Li, Maryknoll Convent School; Genevieve Tai, St. Rose of Lima's College; Li Chiu-wing, Buddhist Mau Fung Memorial College; Ryan Cheng, Diocesan Boys' School; Yu Man-ying, Leung Shek Chee College; Joseph Yip Tin-nok, Diocesan Boys' School.

Judges' Comments

“ The students were so creative in their approach and in implementing their innovative ideas. I was deeply impressed by what I saw and heard, and so many of them also demonstrated their love for and dedication to their schools. ”

Terence Chang Cheuk-cheung, Former Headmaster, Diocesan Boys' School

“ Each of the candidates showed real devotion to their schools, but in very different ways. It was clear they were willing to leave their comfort zones and go the extra mile in order to help others and make a meaningful contribution. I was deeply impressed by the sense of passion, conviction and positivity that was shown by all the finalists. ”

Alex Ho, Vice President, Recruitment Business and Circulation & Syndication Business, South China Morning Post

“ I was very impressed by the confidence and passion of the shortlisted contestants during the brief conversations we had with each of them.

It is important that students understand school is more than a place where they receive an education. It is also where they can learn about the value of giving back and contributing.

The Student of the Year Awards is the perfect opportunity for the public to see the dedication of these young people. I would like to congratulate them for putting their best foot forward. ”

Li Tak-nang, Executive Manager, Corporate Branding, The Hong Kong Jockey Club